

Chevron

Country Park : Important Update

In the April Chevron we reported that we had arranged for a professional survey to be carried out on the Park buildings. The report advised that the buildings are generally in a poor condition as little maintenance has been undertaken by Suffolk County Council in recent years. This report has been sent to Suffolk County Council together with a letter from the Parish Council asking for clarity on building issues and seeking a significant financial contribution from them for repair. We are still awaiting their response.

We are now greatly concerned to hear that Suffolk County Council have decided to board up both the station master's house and the visitors' centre because of recent vandalism. This is against our wishes and our advice due to the detrimental effect that this will have upon the Park.

We will do our utmost to dissuade SCC from this action and will keep you informed of developments.

